

Brandeis Women's Studies Research Center presents its Eighth Annual Celebration in Honor of Mothers' Day:

Can You See Me Now?

Film Event and Panel Discussion
by WSRC Scholar Marcie Tyre, film scholar Lisa Tyre,
and literature scholar Richard Tyre

Tuesday, May 12, 12:30-2:00pm

Parents form their views of their children early, and these perceptions can endure long past their useful time. Likewise, children often fail to see their parents as real, complex people who grow and change over time. In this forum, we will draw on examples in film, literature, and our own lives that reveal some of the ways we break through long-held perceptions to truly get to know the person who is our parent or our child. Panelists will discuss some of the challenges and rewards of the “getting to know you” process. We will invite audience members to discuss how they find ways to truly “see” the ones they love, despite the challenges that love puts in the way.

Women's Studies Research Center

Brandeis University

Epstein Building

515 South Street, Waltham MA

Free and open to the public

Questions: Rosa 781-736-8111