

KARL FABEL, a German chess problemist, is responsible for this outrageous problem.

You are asked to find a move for white that will not result in an immediate checkmate of the black king.