Course Description
Students broaden their knowledge and understanding of the conceptual principles of organizational structures and methodologies involved in the presentation of information in virtual environments. In a series of projects, students explore various types of data and structural organization models of information.

Expanded Course Description
This continued investigation into complex problem solving will emphasize the application of systemic design methods. This course explores a conceptual design that requires advanced design/planning committing to the development and creative use of qualitative as well as quantitative information. Individual and team problem-solving techniques are utilized to identify and analyze problems, develop content, specify needed functions, propose integrated solutions at the system level. Students learn to use computing technology frameworks as production tools as well as a tool supporting design processes. This course is a combination of projects, exercises, discussions and critiques, lectures, and studio work time.

Course Objectives
The purpose of this course is to assist students in developing a critical understanding and application of interactive design knowledge and practices (see next page). The specific objectives of this course are that students will be able to:
- Acquire advanced knowledge in the theories and practices associated with user experience design
- Develop a deeper understanding of interaction design through the research, planning and implementation of self-directed projects
- Build ideation and visualization of concepts into visual forms for clear communication of design goals
- Apply current visual design knowledge and skills to create presentation graphics and interface designs
- Create and cultivate a collaborative and positive team work environment
- Undertake independent creative and technical learning and research
- Integrate and extend principles and practices across the design field

Course Schedule
See course website for weekly schedules.
Course Text / Readings
Refer to the course website.

Other Resources
Supplementary course materials and case studies in print and/or digital format are available in the Scott Library at York, Sheridan Library, owned personally by the instructor or online (e.g. Safari Books and complete access to Lynda.com courses are accessible through your Sheridan Library account). The instructor will list these resources as determined by the class activities.

Required Material(s)
Some specific materials may be required for completion of projects. Their cost will vary depending on the materials and techniques chosen by a student. Students will also need digital data storage devices such as USB flash drives and/or portable hard drives – to regularly backup their work – and also access to the digital-locker server at York.
Proper Use of Facilities
Use of the YSDN facilities and equipment is for proper completion of assigned projects only. Privileges may be withheld for improper use. Lateness or incomplete work due to the loss or suspension of privileges is not an acceptable reason for missed deadlines. Students under suspension of privileges must find alternative means to complete projects.

Evaluation
This course will consist of a combination of lecture, research assignments, hands–on tutorials and creative production of projects. Emphasis will be placed on the exploration of the contextual meanings of interactive design, visual syntax, visual expression, and documentation of the design process.

When grading individual projects and assignments, you will be graded on the following four distinct aspects of the work:

1. Concept and Ideas – their originality and relevance to the problem. Lateral Thinking abilities, analysis of project requirements, understanding of the problem and its parameters, goals & objectives.

2. Refinement of the Concept – the ability to take the original idea(s) and further develop/improve and apply them. Vertical Thinking abilities, critical evaluation of ideas and solutions.

3. Skills – translation of ideas to visually & technically refined forms, demonstrated throughout the design process from early sketches to the finished state.

4. Presentation – the ability to communicate (visually, verbally and in written form) the systematic and logical direction your synthesis of the problem solving process has taken. Appropriateness of the final visual resolution of the project or exercise.

Grading
The final grade for the course will be based on the following items weighted as indicated:

Project 1 40%
Project 2 20%
Project 3 35%
Attendance and Participation 5%

Note: Final course grades may be adjusted to conform to program or faculty grades distribution profiles.

Grading Scheme and Feedback Policy
Senate Grading Scheme and Feedback Policy stipulates that (a) the grading scheme (i.e. kinds and weights of assignments, essays, exams, etc.) be announced, and be available in writing, within the first two weeks of class, and that, (b) under normal circumstances, graded feedback worth at least 15% of the final grade for Fall, Winter or Summer Term, and 30% for full year courses offered in the Fall/Winter Term be received by students in all courses prior to the final withdrawal date from a course without receiving a grade. See the policy for exceptions to this aspect of the policy http://secretariatpolicies.info.yorku.ca/policies/grading-scheme-and-feedback-policy/

No examinations or tests collectively worth more than 20% of the final grade in a course will be given during the final 14 calendar days of classes in a term. The exceptions to the rule are classes which regularly meet Friday evenings or on Saturday and/or Sunday at any time, and courses offered in the compressed summer terms.

The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.). For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Students may take a limited number of courses for degree credit on an ungraded (pass/fail) basis. For full information on this option see Alternative Grading Option in the AMPD section of the Undergraduate Calendar http://calendars.students.yorku.ca/2016-2017/design.

Assignment Submission
Proper academic performance depends on students doing their work not only well, but on time. Accordingly, assignments for this course must be received on the due date specified for the assignment. Assignments are to be handed in class or submitted online on the appropriate date.

At York, under normal situations, the Design Office will NOT accept drop-off of student work. In the rare case of illness of the instructor on a due date, special arrangements between the course director and the office can be made for the submission of student work.

Lateness Penalty
Assignments received later than the due date will be penalized 10% per business day that the assignment is late. Exceptions to the lateness penalty for valid reasons such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., may be entertained by the course instructor but will require supporting documentation (e.g. a doctor’s letter).

Missed Tests
Students with a documented reason for missing a course project deadline or a test, such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., which is confirmed by supporting documentation (e.g. doctor’s letter) may request accommodation from the course instructor. Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the faculty.

Attendance and Lateness
Regular and punctual attendance is a required professional behaviour in industry and therefore in this program. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Students are responsible for informing their faculty ahead of time if they are going to be late for a class or not attending. Exceptions to the lateness penalty for valid reasons such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., may be entertained by the course instructor but will require supporting documentation (e.g. a doctor’s letter). Students will be responsible for all academic, financial penalties and consequences resulting from their non-attendance.

Last Date to Drop the Course
Friday November 10, 2017 is the last day that a student can drop this course without receiving a grade. Financial penalties may be involved and could be assessed depending on the precise date that the course was dropped.

Accessibility/Disability Services
Both York and Sheridan provide services for students with disabilities (including learning, mental health, physical, sensory and medical disabilities) needing accommodation related to teaching and evaluation methods/materials. These services are made available to students in all Faculties and programs at both institutions. Students in need of these services are asked to register at both York and Sheridan as early as possible to ensure sufficient advance notice so that appropriate academic accommodation can be provided. You are encouraged to schedule a time early in the term to meet with each professor to discuss your accommodation needs.
