SPECIAL FEATURES

EXPANDED COURSE DESCRIPTION: The goal of this course is to examine western art from 1780 to the present. Major emphasis will fall on both the analysis of specific works of art and on questions of social, political and critical contexts. In this way, painting, sculpture, design and architecture will be related to the multiple clashes and conflicts of the period. The work of art will be seen, not in isolation, but as a complex space within a larger web of historical forces.

The course director and the teaching assistant are here for any questions, comments or concerns that you may have.
The course will consist of weekly lectures.

TOPICS AND CONCEPTS

REQUIRED TEXT:
The following text is required for this course:

COURSE SCHEDULE:
Week One: Introduction. pp.11-21
Week Two: Rococo and Neo-Classicism, pp.22-61
Week Three: Neo-Classicism, pp.22-61
LIST OF LEARNING OUTCOMES AND EXAMPLES OF

1) The course will contextualize the development of European art within a broad historical framework extending from the late eighteenth to the late nineteenth centuries. It will provide an introductory foundation for further studies in these areas.

2) The course will highlight the development of analytic skills in both conceptual and historiographical terms in a manner that will benefit both art history majors and non-majors.

REQUIRED TEXT:
The following text is required for this course:

GRADED ASSESSMENT:

GRADED ASSESSMENT: The grading scheme for this course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g. A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, etc.). Assignments and tests will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (or both); (e.g. A+ = 90-100; A = 80-90; B+ = 75-79; etc.). For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar.

EVALUATION: The final grade for the course will be based on the following items:
One 8 page paper (40%); one essay outline and bibliography (15%); two tests (20% each); attendance and participation (5%).

ESSAY: The short essay (40%) must be a minimum of 8 double-spaced pages in normal font and focus on one or two works in any medium from the period covered in the course: 1780-1900.
The essay must address the following question as its main focus of analysis: “To what extent does this work involve the idealization of nature?” Analyze a work of your choice with this issue in mind. The term “idealization” refers to any treatment of the subject that moves away from a model of realism in order to embellish, purify or otherwise alter the immediate facts of perception. The essay must be properly footnoted and include a bibliography and images of the works under discussion. It should reference a minimum of 3 scholarly sources (not including the textbook).

ESSAY OUTLINE: The essay outline (15%) should be a minimum of 2 pages (including Bibliography). It should be in prose and present your future essay’s principal argument as well as a brief account of how you intend to demonstrate your main thesis through the specific analysis of a work of art and its historical context.

TESTS: The first test (20%) in Week 9 will consist of a short analysis of individual key works (to be shown in sequence on the classroom screen) in terms of style, subject-matter, and historical context and significance. A list of the relevant images will be given in advance. The second test (20%) in Week 13 will consist of a general essay question linking 3 major artistic currents in the period between 1780 and 1900. You will also be asked to cite and analyze at least one specific work for each current.

DEADLINES: 18 October 2018 (Essay Outline) and Thursday, 8 November 2018 (Full Essay).

TEST DATES: 1 November 2018 and 29 November 2018

ASSIGNMENT SUBMISSION: Proper academic performance depends on students doing their work not only well, but on time. Accordingly submissions for this course must be received on the due date specified for the assignments. Assignments are to be handed in on this date IN CLASS. Ethics Review Process York students are subject to the York University Policy for the Ethics Review Process for Research Involving Human Participants. In particular, students proposing to undertake research involving human participants (e.g., interviewing the director of a company or government agency, having students complete a questionnaire, etc.) are required to submit an Application for Ethical Approval of Research Involving Human Participants at least one month before you plan to begin the research. If you are in doubt as to whether this requirement applies to you, contact your Course Director immediately.

Religious Observance Accommodation
York University is committed to respecting the religious beliefs and practices of all members of the community, and making accommodations for observances of special significance to adherents. Should any of the dates specified in this syllabus for an in-class test or examination pose such a conflict for you, contact the Course Director within the first three weeks of class. Similarly, should an assignment to be completed in a lab, practicum placement, workshop, etc., scheduled later in the term pose such a conflict, contact the Course director immediately. Please note that to arrange an alternative date or time for an examination scheduled in the formal examination periods (December and April/May), students must complete an Examination Accommodation Form, which can be obtained from Student Client Services, Bennett Student Services Centre or online at http://www.registrar.yorku.ca/pdf/exam_accommodation.pdf
