Special Features

This course provides students with an introduction to the technique and philosophy of contemporary/modern dance based on Limón technique and release-based contemporary dance technique. As in other technique courses, physical training refines artistic expression, provides the dancer with a modern dance vocabulary, musicality and athleticism. Students will improve their overall technical skill and performance ability through this course.

Technical requirements for taking the course:
Moodle and zoom will be used as the primary platforms through which to deliver both synchronous and asynchronous components of this course allowing students to interact with the course materials, the course director / TA, as well as with one another. Please review the following syllabus carefully to understand how and when the class meets, and how virtual office hours and course content will be conducted.

A way to determine Internet connection and speed: there are online tests, such as Speedtest, https://www.speedtest.net/ that can be run.

Information about the delivery and organization of the course

Location:
Please note that this is a course that depends on remote teaching and learning. There will be no in-class interactions or activities on campus.

Organization of the course:

Live (Synchronous) Zoom Technique Class
Tuesday – Friday (10:30 – 11:15 am)
We will meet as a group to practice a live Zoom contemporary modern class. Please note ALL live sessions will be recorded and posted on the Moodle for anyone who is unable, due to extenuating circumstances, to meet during this live session.

Practice/ Course Work
Tuesday – Friday (11:15 am– 12:00pm)
The latter portion of this class will be dedicated to small group coaching sessions, detailed synchronous and asynchronous technical work, partner work, class discussion and journaling.

Please email the Course Director if you anticipate challenges meeting at this time to arrange an alternate method of dance technique participation.

Virtual Office Hours
Wednesday (12:00 -1:00pm)
Course Director will be available during this time for one-on-one meetings through Zoom. To schedule your time block please email the course director. If you are unavailable at this time, please contact the instructor to schedule an alternate time.

Topics and Concepts
Classes consist of floor work, centre work and combinations with the emphasis on Limon and dance elements such as weight shift, swing, fall and rebound/recovery, succession, opposition, isolation, breath support, weight, focus, energy and awareness of the relationship to the internal and external concepts of space (this includes the emphasis on energy direction and flow, gravity, special projection, shape, weight shift etc.) All sequences are approached from Limon contemporary dance technique principles and are designed to increase body/mind connection and improve one’s ability to master this dance vocabulary. The class will also utilize improvisation as a component of contemporary modern dance training. There may be special presentations, events, performances, meetings and/or workshops during class time given by other faculty, graduate students or guest teachers (TBA).
Learning Outcomes with Examples

Breadth, depth of knowledge
By the end of this course students will be able to:
- demonstrate consistent static and dynamic alignment, and whole body integration.
- synthesize and develop technical skill to perform contemporary dance movement vocabulary using safe and efficient movement practices.
- demonstrate understanding of dance artistry through an awareness of musical concepts, intelligence and sensitivity.
- demonstrate consistent preparedness by effective warm-up for class physically, mindfully and spiritually

Knowledge of methodologies
By the end of this course students will be able to:
- identify, analyze, integrate and interpret contemporary Limón principles to enhance performance quality
- develop improvisational skills as a pathway to strong dance technique
- identify, describe and design short term goal and long term goal setting and generate a multiple goal strategy based on this methodology
- identify and discuss how movement principles can support one’s technical growth as well as other related cognitive and metacognitive development theories that support one’s own dance performance

Application of knowledge
By the end of this course students will be able to:
- demonstrate retention of class work and the ability to accurately reproduce class exercises, phrases and etude
- efficiently and mindfully apply corrections and feedback from peers and instructor
- develop a safe and efficient movement practice by identifying and analyzing one’s healthy or unhealthy movement patterns
- carry out personal feedback and implement information gathered in class discussions effectively
- increase physical strength, control, accuracy and agility through consistent practice
- demonstrate awareness of music with attention to rhythm, phrasing, and nuances in qualities
- develop and follow a day-to-day, week-to-week and month-to-month goal setting plan

Communication skills
By the end of this course students will be able to:
- demonstrate with confidence and consistency contemporary modern vocabulary as a non-verbal mode of expression and artistry
- develop the ability to articulate verbally on movement practices
- contribute to in-class discussions that encourage critically thought and reflection about the goal setting, partner work and their daily physical practice.
- discuss, interpret and articulate clearly class concepts and principles through the submission of journal entries and a short reflection essay.

Awareness of limitations of knowledge
By the end of this course students will be able to:
- differentiate and evaluate their cognitive and metacognitive processes through goal-setting, journaling, reflective writing and partner work.
- design and apply appropriate performance and process goals that will develop an awareness of their physical limitations and thus develop a safe and efficient movement practice.
- recognize and value the purpose of analysis of limitations of knowledge.

Autonomy and professional capacity

By the end of this course students will be able to:
- demonstrate problem-solving capability in both the short-term challenges of class and the longer-term challenges of goal attainment.
- access self-directed learning skills through on-going metacognitive awareness
- demonstrate professional conduct at all times. This includes, but is not limited to exemplifying good classroom citizenry, advocating for democratic values and practicing positive self-talk to maintain a positive, collaborative and sustainably supportive learning space
- design and develop their own dynamic warm-up that prepares the body and mind to dance effectively.
- exhibit the ability to manage injuries and illness responsibly and constructively

Graded Assessment

Breadth, depth of Knowledge

Demonstrated through mindful dynamic alignment, consistent whole body integration, awareness and use of safe preparation and dance practices, skilled coordination and articulation, kinesthetic awareness, core support, reliable control, breath support, risk-taking, embodiment and substantive understanding of movement principles, methodologies and music concepts, effective application of corrections and development of presentation and style

This category will be assessed by the combination of the following:

- 15% Physical demonstration during in class coaching sessions and class work
- 10% Midterm video assessment assignment (Instructions posted in Moodle)

Knowledge of Methodologies

Assessed in the following ways:

- 14% Demonstrated physically in movement phrases through correct use of movement vocabulary and principles during in class coaching sessions and class work
- 3% Quiz 2 Limón terminology (Glossary posted in Moodle)
- 3% Identify Limón elements assignment (Instructions posted in Moodle)

Application of Knowledge

Demonstrated by effective application of personal feedback and class discussions, accuracy of retention of class work, improved strength, flexibility, control and agility.

Assessed through:

- 20% Small group coaching sessions and class work
- 5% Final phrase creation and demonstration assignment (Instructions posted in Moodle)
Communication Skill 10%

Assessed by:
5% Embodied understanding of artistic presentation and style, good verbal skill in in-class query, discussion and partner work, collaborative teaching/learning techniques, self-assured performance skills, good interaction with instructor, musicians and peers
5% Final reflection paper on metacognition and learning strategies (Instructions posted in Moodle)

Awareness of limitations of knowledge 5%

5% Midterm self-evaluation exercise (Instructions posted in Moodle)

Autonomy and professional capacity 15%

Demonstrated by full and consistent physical and cognitive engagement resulting in a high-quality of performance, effective problem-solving, strong physical commitment, self-directed learning which brings about tangible change, consistency in work habits and motivation, respect for peers, musician and instructor, professional dress and conduct

Assessed in the following ways:
2% Quiz 1 netiquette (Glossary posted in Moodle)
3% Journal entries (Instructions posted in Moodle)
10% Demonstrated during synchronous and asynchronous classes

Additional Information

Preparing for your live zoom technique classes
(adapted from Dr J. Bolt’s FAQs About Remote and Online Learning in Dance)

Space: Find a space in your home that you can allocate for your daily physical practice that is as large a space as possible, free from distractions and safety hazards. This means you might need to push coffee tables and couches back. Consider the time it may take to prepare your space in advance of the live zoom session so you are prepared to begin dancing promptly at 10:30 am.

Aim for privacy in your practice: This are challenging time in which multiple family members are sharing small spaces. Work out in advance with those you live with to have minimal to no traffic while dancing. This is not the time for siblings, family members, roommates or even pets to be sitting around watching, offering input/feedback, or trying to participate can be distracting for the student.
Wear appropriate dance attire: Form fitting clothing that covers torso and legs should be worn. No loose fitting or ragged clothes unless required. Hair must be worn back and off the face.

Pre-class warm up is essential: Our collective goal is to develop a safe physical practice and while we may not have the dance spaces we are used to, developing a warm-up routine will be essential for one’s health and wellbeing. Begin the year with the warm-up sequences you are familiar with; however much of the first-year experience will offer you many new dynamic ways to effectively warm the body in preparation for class.

Stay in your dance area during class time: Tend to all personal needs ie. go to the bathroom, have a snack etc before or after class.

Choose your zoom device wisely and elevate your screen: Think in advance what device you will zoom with and ensure this device is charged or plugged in, and ready to go each morning. If watching an iPad or laptop, elevate these to eye level or above to encourage better posture. Shelving, stands or a pile of books can help with this.

Turn off all other devices: Give yourself permission to focus on only one device at a time to ensure you are absorbing as much as you can during class.

Set up Early: Sign in at least 10 minutes before class to allow for technology hiccups, forgotten passwords, etc. It is especially hard to jump into a dance class late, remotely.

Work to stay motivated and engaged in small and large group work: Once classroom has been set there will be opportunities during synchronous zoom time for us to work in small groups / breakout rooms. Aim to stay focused on the given task and be prepared to direct your attention back to the group quickly in order maintain the remote classroom pace. Respect and support your peers by staying focused. This means that there are times when one must put aside personal feelings to maintain an optimal work environment.

Music and Musicians: We are extremely fortunate to have live musical accompaniment for many of our synchronous zoom session. Our Departmental musicians are an invaluable part of our York dance community. Show your respect by acknowledging their presence, gratitude through positive feedback, silence when they play and applause at the end of class. Note that there may be time lags, pauses that result in live accompaniment. We need to work through these and be patient with ourselves and our musicians at all times.
