redefine THE POSSIBLE.

Welcome and thank you for your support of York! Through this publication, our first Annual Giving Report to Donors, we hope you will recognize the many ways your support is making a difference.

Since its inception in 1959, York University has become renowned for producing graduates who achieve groundbreaking success. At York, faculty and students work together to focus on discovery and new ways of learning and applying knowledge that will significantly enhance students' ability to forge their own paths to academic and career achievement.

As Canada's third largest University, York now hosts an astounding 50,000 students. This past year, close to 60 per cent of the dollars raised from alumni, faculty, staff, retirees, parents and friends through York's annual giving programs were directed toward student awards. The scholarships and bursaries supported by these donations and funds from various Government of Ontario matching gift programs will reward excellence and provide financial assistance, significantly impacting the lives of current and future York students for years to come.

Donations through annual giving programs also provide support for some of the University's other important priorities including, new and renovated buildings, teaching and research equipment, student and faculty exchange programs and faculty presentations at conferences.

York University delivers a unique and unparalleled student experience. Donor support enables University leaders to respond to opportunities as they emerge and ensure that Faculties, libraries, research initiatives, athletics and student services can undertake special initiatives above and beyond their regular operations.

We are truly grateful for the commitment of our dedicated donors and volunteers. The generosity and annual support of alumni, faculty, staff, retirees, parents and friends is helping York achieve its vision of producing graduates able to spearhead innovation in unimaginable ways. Once again, thank you!

The York University Foundation gives special thanks to the following volunteers who championed the York University Annual Fund, Faculty, Staff and Retirees Campaign and Parents Campaign, for their involvement and support of our annual giving programs. Your leadership helps us build the community bridges that are key to York's success.

MAKING EDUCATION THE NUMBER ONE PRIORITY - NOW AND IN THE FUTURE

GROWTH

YORK STUDENT PAMELA STOKES

For many university students in Ontario, heading back to school brings on more than just the typical academic stresses. Along with juggling papers, preparing for exams and contributing to the rich student life at York, a large number of students have to squeeze in part-time and often full-time employment. However, thanks to the generosity of York's alumni, faculty, staff, retirees, parents and friends, many more students in the coming years will be able to make education their number one priority.

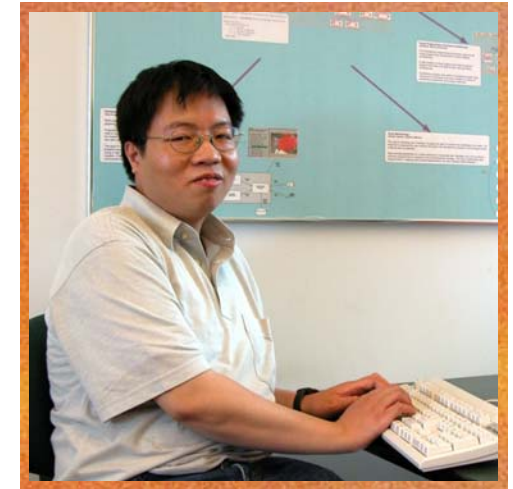

Pamela Stokes and King Yuen (Victor) Wong are just two York University students who have benefited from the financial support of donors and Government-funded matching programs like the Ontario Student Opportunity Trust Fund (OSOTF), the Ontario Graduate Scholarship (OGS) and the Ontario Graduate Scholarships in Science and Technology (OGSST) programs.

Stokes, an A+ student and a recipient of the Lundell Achievement Award, has been on her own since the age of 14 and has worked very hard to put herself through university. Just prior to winning the Award, Stokes faced financial challenges that threatened to interrupt her studies.

"I have never had enough money to pay for all of the necessary books my courses required," says Stokes who is now a master's candidate in psychology with hopes of pursuing a PhD in Clinical Psychology. "The Lundell Achievement Award made it possible for me to cover the costs of tuition and living expenses and still buy the necessary course materials so that I was able to maintain my grades." The award enabled Stokes to focus on her studies full time, without the distraction of working outside of school.

PROGRESS

YORK STUDENT KING YUEN (VICTOR) WONG

The OSOTF program, which until March 31, 2005 provides dollar-for-dollar matching of gifts supporting endowed student financial aid, was created to increase the accessibility of post-secondary education for eligible students, regardless of their financial circumstances. The OGS program, which provides 2:1 matching for annual graduate student scholarships, was developed to encourage continued excellence by the best and brightest students. With generous donations from the York community, the University can continue to offer critical assistance to many more talented students.

According to Wong, a computer science student and recipient of an OGS initiated by a donation from ADC Canada, "York University is a great place both for studying and for doing research. I am grateful to have received this support because it enables me to put more time into doing research."

Wong's research is focused on computer vision, the process of making computers see and understand their environment, the same way humans do. He is especially interested in visual motion analysis. Outcomes of this research may include the robotic interpretation of human movement, leading to automated video detection that could ultimately mean enhanced security systems in crowded public places such as airports.

Donor support is invaluable to providing exceptional students with the opportunity to devote as much of their time as possible toward building their futures and building their dreams.

We thank all alumni, faculty, staff, retirees, parents and friends who made donations this past year. Your gifts will help future York students enhance their educational experiences and redefine the possible.

POSSIBILITY

FACULTY, STAFF AND RETIREES GIVE BACK

The groundbreaking success of York University graduates is largely due to our high calibre of faculty and staff – comprised of the world’s finest thinkers, researchers and professors. Their loyalty and commitment to York is not only exhibited through their work, but also through their generosity and support of the University’s resources, facilities and students’ financial need.

Suzanne Dubeau, assistant head of York’s Archives and Special Collections, Margo Gewurtz, professor of humanities and master of Founder’s College, and Brigitte Kleer, manager of public relations and special projects for the Faculty of Fine Arts have dedicated their careers to the facilitation of learning, research and creativity. Aside from their professional roles at York, they are all committed benefactors wanting to make a difference to an area of the university that is meaningful to them.

Faculty, Staff and Retirees most commonly direct their gifts to student scholarships and awards. These donations reward student excellence and address financial need. However, gifts are also designated to many other initiatives including, visiting lecturers, research and ensuring that York’s libraries are well equipped.

ARCHIVIST INSPIRES A LEGACY

In 1997, following the completion of her master’s degree in information studies (Archives Specialization), University of Toronto, Suzanne Dubeau was hired by highly regarded archivist, Kent Haworth, to work in York University’s Archives and Special Collections. “Kent was inspirational and enthusiastic,” says Dubeau. “He was also a major contributor to the expansion and breadth of York’s holdings.”

SUZANNE DUBEAU
ASSISTANT HEAD OF YORK’S ARCHIVES AND SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

Through her support of the Kent Haworth Archival Research Fellowship, Dubeau is making a personal contribution to her profession and honouring Kent’s career and his wish for greater recognition of the value of archival collections worldwide. “I am really proud of what we do here,” says Dubeau. “York’s archives and collections are supportive of the University’s interdisciplinary nature.” York’s collections encompass an array of materials pertaining to such topics as Canadian literature, Canadian women and social reform movements. Some examples include, the papers of Rohinton Mistry, Stevie Cameron, Eliza Clark and Allan Powell, founder of the Hepatitis C Society.

A POETIC AWARD

Margo Gewurtz began her career at York in 1968 and helped launch some of the University’s most renowned and exciting programs. She played a key role in developing the East Asian Studies and Women’s Studies programs, both representative of York’s interdisciplinary focus.

In 2001, after losing her youngest daughter Judith following a three-year battle with cancer, Gewurtz and her family established a poetry award in her honour. “The University has been wonderful to me in so many ways,” says Gewurtz. “My colleagues were especially supportive during the time of Judith’s illness.”

The Judith Eve Gewurtz Memorial Poetry Award recognizes and rewards the third year creative writing major who submits the best poem. “Judith had a love of poetry and during her illness she wrote descriptive poems about the emotions she was feeling as a person living with cancer,” says Gewurtz. “This award gives me an opportunity to give back to York and memorialize Judith in a way that would make her proud.”

CELEBRATING YORK’S TALENT

BRIGITTE KLEER
MANAGER OF PUBLIC RELATIONS AND SPECIAL PROJECTS FOR THE FACULTY OF FINE ARTS

Since her arrival at York, Brigitte Kleer has witnessed unbelievable growth in size, scope and program development within the Faculty of Fine Arts. “I came to work at York expecting to stay about a year, 17 years ago,” she says with a laugh. “Since then, it’s been so interesting, and there are so many opportunities to make a difference – it was easy to make a long-term commitment to being here.”

Kleer has always had a personal interest in the arts, and is inspired by the talent she sees at York. “I’ve been here long enough to see what the students in this Faculty are capable of,” she says. “We have splendid students, and I’ve always been impressed by the generosity of my colleagues – both faculty and staff – in supporting their talents.”

Kleer believes that as a York employee, it is important to feel connected to an area of support. “I think that not only faculty and staff, but all people who give, need to put their money where their hearts are. My heart is here.”

We thank faculty, staff and retirees for their dedication and commitment to York University — developing the mind is the ultimate gift. Your generous support of York is truly an indication of the pride taken in your work.

Thank you!

PARENTS' PLEDGES PAY OFF

GIVE

"University challenges the minds of students and prepares them to achieve great things," says George Seretis, owner of Easy Plastic Containers Limited and Chair of the York University Parents Campaign. A proud father of three sons – two York graduates and one currently working toward his BBA in York's Schulich School of Business – Seretis resonates passion when he talks about York University.

In his role as Chair of the Parents Campaign, Seretis encourages parents to participate in their children's education. "In business many investments are good, but education is the best investment there is," he says. By giving, parents can take part in enhancing the resources and learning environment at York, for their own children and future students.

Last year, York parents heard Seretis' message! Gifts were almost evenly designated to Faculties and departments, student financial support, libraries and the University's top priorities fund, touching many of the critical aspects of their children's university experience.

Since Seretis first began asking York Parents for their support three years ago, he meets with the students who make follow-up calls to confirm gifts, and offers his words of motivation. "I feel very proud of the students who call for gifts in support of York. They are not just making phone calls, they are playing a part in building for the future," explains Seretis. Each year during their training session, he creates a challenge for the students by promising to treat the entire group to lunch if their projected fundraising goal is exceeded. For the past three years, the students have taken him up on his offer and enjoyed his hospitality!

When Seretis immigrated to Canada from Greece years ago, English was not his first language and he never had the chance to attend university. Through much hard work and determination he built a successful company and has provided his family with a world of opportunity. While he has been fortunate, Seretis sees the university experiences of his three sons Nick, Spiros and Andy as invaluable. Nick, the oldest, is currently working with his father at Easy Plastic Containers Limited and his extensive computer competency is taking the company in a new direction. Spiros graduated this past June and hopes to pursue an MBA at York's Schulich School of Business next fall. Andy looks forward to attending law school after he graduates with his BBA.

"I'm very enthusiastic about York because it has provided an excellent education to my three sons," says Seretis. "I strongly encourage every parent to consider the lasting benefits of a university education and the role they can play in enhancing that experience by participating in the Parents Campaign."

York University is grateful for the commitment and support of the parents of York students. Thank you for playing an active role in your children's education and supporting the promise of future generations. Your generosity is contributing to York's ability to go beyond the ordinary and provide students with an enhanced learning environment encompassing the best resources and facilities.
