Health and Well Being: Research, Practice, and Politics

June 5th 2009
York University

The goal of this conference is to provide a venue for students of York University, as well as other universities, to present their work and to exchange ideas on a broad range of issues related to health and well being. Submissions are encouraged from students conducting health related research in all disciplines.

The conference is sponsored by the Lillian Wright Maternal-Child Health Scholars Program, the York Institute for Health Research, and the Ontario Women's Health Council Chair in Women's Mental Health Research.

Keynote Speakers include:

Leslie Atkinson

Professor, Department of Psychology, Ryerson University

Pat Campbell

CEO, Echo: Improving Women's Health in Ontario

Notisha Massaquoi

Executive Director, Women's Health in Women's Hands (Community Health Centre)

Themes include but are not limited to: women's mental health; mother-child interactions; children and attachment; the social determinants of health; biophysiological aspects of health; health policy; health, social inclusion, and social justice; and health promotion with diverse communities.
