

Business Analyst - Health Care

The Headhunters.ca - Edmonton, AB T5G 2X4

Apply your understanding of business and technology to improving health care

THE COMPANY

A leading IT consultancy, with locations across North America, is seeking to hire in their downtown Edmonton office. Known for hiring only the best and brightest consultants, the company has created a culture of innovation and established a track record for delivering excellence.

The company is looking to add to their established Health Care practice, which is currently in high-growth mode. They assist various levels of Health Care in transforming their complex business processes and vast amounts of health data into strategic information to support the delivery of quality, safe client care. This is accomplished through health planning, business transformation and managed services.

THE POSITION

We are seeking skilled Business Analysts focused on the Health Care Industry that can help add value and give direction to the enhancement of existing systems. Specifically the role will include:

- Collect, document and analyze existing current and future business processes
- Perform interviews and facilitate sessions with key stakeholders
- Define user needs and business requirements and translate these into technical specifications
- Analyse data and provide recommendations for improvements and efficiencies
- Prepare and present material to project leaders and client sponsors

THE CANDIDATE

The ideal candidate will have the following required skills:

Experience working in the health industry, with specific knowledge of business practices, information, data clinical applications and technology.

Post-secondary education in Health Informatics, Information Management or Information Technology (or equivalent) with health industry experience.

Previous experience as a business analyst with formalized training on process mapping, business process re-engineering and project methodologies.

Outstanding communication skills with ability to interact confidently at all levels of an organization.

If you are interested in becoming a member of a team of professionals that are devoted to improving the level of health services in Canada, with projects right here in Edmonton, then please respond directly to ckershaw@theheadhunters.ca
