

Lecture 12 workshop

1. Write a callback function for the Save button in the graphical user interface that we began in the lecture. When the user clicks the Save button, the interface should save the gamma function parameters, pixel size, and frame rate to a file called `caldata.mat`.