Thursday, 5 February 2004
305 York Lanes

9:00 – 9:15am Welcome
David Dewitt, York Centre for International and Security Studies
Margaret Beare, Nathanson Centre for the Study of Organized Crime and Corruption

9:15 – 10:45am Rethinking the Theory/Practice of IR and Global Order
The Fundamental(ism)s of Post-September 11 American Foreign Policy
Samantha Arnold, York Centre for International and Security Studies
Identity, Culture, and Paradigms of Incongruity in International Relations: The Case of Islam
Nergis Canefe, York University
Post-Conflict Reconstruction in Afghanistan
Carmen Sanchez, York Centre for International and Security Studies
Central Asia and Western Fallacies
Levent Hekimoglu, York University

11:00am – 12:30pm Global (Dis)Order and the American Moment
The Impasse of Monism in International Legal Theory Post 9/11
Martin Jones and Daniel Tsai, Nathanson Centre for the Study of Organized Crime and Corruption
American Hegemony Incorporated: The Importance and Implications of Global Security Governance in Iraq
Christopher Spearin, Canadian Forces College
European Security in an American Era
Lisa Watanabe, York University

1:30 – 3:00pm Plenary Session
The Neurotic Citizen
Engin Isin, York University

3:15 – 4:45pm Sovereignty, Globalization, and International Law
Globalization and Supranational Governance
Laura Westra, University of Windsor and Osgoode Hall Law School
The Securitization of Immigration in the European Union
Véronique Aubry, York Centre for International and Security Studies
The End of Sovereignty?
Hassan El Menyawi, Osgoode Hall Law School

Friday, 6 February 2004
305 York Lanes

9:00 – 10:30am Rethinking Human Security
Policing Human Security: The UN’s International Police Task Force and Peacebuilding in Bosnia
Tim Donais, York Centre for International and Security Studies
The Lasting Effects of Peacebuilding: Observations from the Field
Ryerson Christie, York Centre for International and Security Studies
Human Security in Japan and Asia: From the Perspective of Informality
Tatsuo Harada, York Centre for International and Security Studies
The Silence is Deafening: Gender Mainstreaming and United Nations Peacekeeping Sandra Whitworth, York Centre for International and Security Studies

10:45am – 12:15pm (Re) Defining Threat: The Securitization of ‘Bad Actors’
Legitimating the Use of Force in International Politics: A Communicative Action Perspective
Corneliu Bjola, University of Toronto
The Rise of Bad Guys: Dershowitz and Socio-Legal Retrogression: A Critical Assessment of his Argument for Torture
Kevin DeJesus, York University
‘Umbrellas’ or ‘Building Blocks’? Defining International Terrorism and Transnational Organized Crime in International Law
Alexandra Orlova and James Moore, Osgoode Hall Law School
Alternative ‘War’: Global Civil Society and International Terrorism
Craig Warkentin, SUNY Oswego

221 Osgoode Hall Law School

1:15 – 2:45pm Plenary Session
Piracy and Other Crimes of War
William Chambliss, The George Washington University
Discussant: Frank Pearce, Queen’s University

3:00 – 4:30pm Governmentality and Resistance
Political Dissent and Practices of Security: Repression and Regulation of Anti-Globalization Movements in Canada
Colleen Bell, York Centre for International and Security Studies
Biopolitics and the Regulation of Illicit Drugs in Canada: From the “Yellow Peril” to New Drug “Khatastrophes”
Kyle Grayson, York Centre for International and Security Studies
Governing Through the Social: Representations of Poverty and Global Governmentality
Cristina Rojas, Carleton University
Multimedia as a Transgressive Practice in Global Politics: The Da’wa of Sheikh Muhammed Al Mohaisany and International (Dis)Order
Michael Dartnell, University of New Brunswick