
Public Forum

Patriotism, Citizenship, and the New Imperialism

M. Jacqui Alexander

Professor of Women's Studies and Gender Studies
University of Toronto

M. Jacqui Alexander holds a PhD from Tufts University and is Professor of Women's Studies and Gender Studies at the University of Toronto. She is one of the most important theorists of transnational feminism today and her work has had a profound impact on feminist, queer, and critical race theories. Her research and teaching have focused on questions of colonialism, political economy, and the racialized and heteronormative regulatory practices of the modern state as well as spiritual dimensions of experience and the meaning of sacred subjectivity. Her publications include Sing, Whisper, Shout, Pray!: Feminist Visions for a Just World (2002), co-edited with Lisa Albrecht, Sharon Day, and Mab Segre, and The Third Wave: Feminist Perspectives on Racism (1998). She is also the co-editor, with Chandra Mohanty, of the piece Feminist Genealogies, Colonial Legacies, Democratic Futures (1997). Her collection of essays, Pedagogies of Crossing, is forthcoming later this year (Duke University Press).

M. Jacqui Alexander will be introduced by Anna Agathangelou,
Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, York University.

Tuesday, 22 November 2005

5:30 - 7:00 p.m.

Canadian Institute of International Affairs
205 Richmond Street West, Suite 302, Toronto

YCISS is a Research Centre at York University and a Department of National Defence Security and Defence Forum Centre of Excellence taking an expansive view of the nature of security in the contemporary world.

Contemporary Dilemmas in Canadian Security

A series of public events exploring current dilemmas facing Canadian defence and security