The Canadian HERO!

Herbert Carnegie was a man of action. He was born in Toronto in 1919. His parents moved to Toronto from Jamaica in 1912. Dr. Carnegie was a resident of North York for more than 90 years. He died on March 9, 2012, yet continues to be a Canadian hero who remains a role model for all who knew him. Herb is known in the media as "the best hockey player that never played in the NHL because of the colour of his skin." He will also forever be remembered for his legacy of enriching the lives of millions of youth.

In the 1940's and 1950's Herb Carnegie supported his family through his career as an amateur hockey player. Although the media, his fellow players and statistics recognized his unique talents in the sport, his dream of playing in the National Hockey League (NHL) would never be realized. Many believe that the unwritten code of the time denied him a tryout in the NHL because of race.

Herbie along with his brother Ossie and Manny McIntyre excited fans as the first "all Black hockey line" in semi-professional hockey. The media frequently headlined the trio as The Brown Bombers, The Dark Destroyers, The Dusky Speedsters or The Ink Spots.

COMMUNITY

Today, think of your family, friends and community. What family values do you admire? Herb said, "From my mother came fairness and hope. From my father came the emphasis of hard work and working to one's full potential. From both came developing individual character and good citizenship."

The Philosopher

E D U C A T I O N

*"I strive to achieve the depth of the Carnegie Creed for me, To serve this land well and ace my possibilities.
So I stretch forth my hand,
To bring you up,
To inspire the courage to claim"*

Dr. Carnegie was a trail blazer. His vision of justice and fair play produced a remarkable code of ethics, the Future ACES Philosophy, also called the Future Aces Creed. N

Herb wanted us students to develop the self-awareness and self-confidence that will enable us to take control of our lives and to use our abilities in a positive way. The Future Aces Creed encourages everyone to act responsibly.

The Philosopher

“My Future is Now”

Herb first wrote the Future Aces Creed for himself as a guideline for how he wanted to live his life. He then realized this Creed could help others and, after using the Creed in his hockey school, he and his wife Audrey and daughter Bernice introduced it to schools in the Toronto area. He personally spoke at numerous school assemblies and graduations, educating his audience to make positive choices in their lives. Today the Creed touches the lives of thousands of students each year.

CODE OF CONDUCT

Attitude

I choose to be friendly.
I respect myself and others.
I listen effectively to new ideas
and ways of doing things.
I use good manners and speak nicely.
I am responsible for taking care of my belongings, my classroom,
and my school.

Co-operation

I work and play well with others.
I solve problems by talking.
I help others and accept help.
I know when to say no.
I am responsible for following the rules of my classroom and my school
(both in and out of the school).

Education

I am responsible for doing my best at all times.
I listen effectively to the teacher and others.

E D U C A T I O N

Sportsmanship

I am responsible for playing safely.
I play by the rules.
I play for fun.

Service

I help others to learn.
I volunteer to assist others.

Example

I work hard to do my best.
I stop and think before I act.
I solve problems by talking.
I accept consequences for my actions.
