Prerequisite / Co-requisite: Prerequisite: HH/PSYC 1010 6.00 or HH/PSYC 2410 6.00, with a minimum grade of C, or AP/LING 1000 6.00.

Time and Location: Lectures on Wednesdays 8:30 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. in CLH G

Course Description

Language use is one of the most systematic behaviours that humans carry out every day. This course introduces different aspects of language from a psychological perspective. The course focuses on how humans perceive and produce speech sounds, how they build and access a mental dictionary, how they process sentences, and how all these abilities change throughout development. The course will also cover content related to the relationship between brain and language, alternative language processing and language disorders.

Organization of the Course

Classes will include formal lectures and, whenever possible, brief class discussions during the three hour scheduled timeslot on Wednesdays. Lectures will comprise the majority of the class time and will follow the content of the textbook. For some of the topics, the textbook material will be supplemented by presentation of relevant films, psychological tests, and scientific articles in order to illustrate the content more fully.

Course Learning Objectives

(1) Statement of the purpose:

The purpose of this course is to provide an overview of the range of topics in the field of psychology of language by integrating theory and research drawing from both psychology and linguistics. After the course students will be able to think critically about the roles that general cognition and specific language processing play in many aspects of human communication in both children and adults.

(2) Specific learning objectives of the course:

- Understanding of the disciplinary components of this material, with contributions from psychology, linguistics and cognitive science
- Developing upper level writing skills in psychology through the summary and interpretation of scientific articles
- Understanding the roles that theory and research play in the evolution of the field

Course Text

Carroll, D. W. (2008). Psychology of Language (5th Edition). Belmont, CA: Thomson Wadsworth

Evaluation

The final grade for the course will be based on the following items weighted as indicated:

Component	Percentage	Due date
Mid-term exam	35%	February 12, 2014
Poster	25%	March 26, 2014
Final Examination	40%	April exam period (April 8-24, 2014)

Poster (25%):

Students will be required to create a power point poster on a topic from the realm of language disorders. Each poster will make use of at least five primary sources to outline the following four sections: 1) Symptoms, 2) Causes, 3) Research Evidence and 4) Interventions. References will be written in APA style. Additional information about this poster is posted on the moodle website.

Mid-term Test (35%) and Final Examination (40%):

Both the mid-term and the final exam are 3-hour long and include a combination of multiple choice questions and short answer questions. These evaluations are NOT cumulative.

Important Dates:

Last date to enrol without permission of course instructor: January 19th, 2014

Last date to enrol with permission of course instructor: January 31st, 2014

Last date to drop the course without receiving a grade: March 7th, 2014

Grading, Assignment Submission, Lateness Penalties and Missed Tests

Grading: The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar - <http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca/pdfs/ug2007cal/UGCAL07-08glendon-rules.pdf> -- Under "Grading System" on p. 420)

Students may take a limited number of courses for degree credit on an ungraded (pass/fail) basis. For full information on this option see Alternative Grading Option in the Faculty of Glendon section of the Undergraduate Calendar:

(<http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca/pdfs/ug2007cal/UGCAL07-08glendon-rules.pdf> -- Under "Grading System" on p. 420)

Assignment Submission: Proper academic performance depends on students doing their work not only well, but on time. Accordingly, assignments for this course must be received on the due date specified for the assignment. Assignments are to be handed in by the end of the lecture on the scheduled due dates.

Lateness Penalty: Assignments received later than the due date will be penalized. Exceptions to the lateness penalty for valid reasons such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., may be entertained by the Course Instructor but will require supporting documentation (e.g., a doctor's letter).

Missed Tests: Students with a documented reason for missing a course test, such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., which is confirmed by supporting documentation (e.g., doctor's letter) may request accommodation from the Course Instructor. Students are required to contact the Course Instructor within 48 hours of the test date. Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the Faculty.
