Course Description

This course provides an overview of key theoretical aspects for some of the major counselling/ psychotherapeutic paradigms. The goal of this course is to introduce students to different theoretical approaches to counselling and psychotherapy and provide them with opportunities to critically examine and reflect on the theoretical and technical (i.e., specific treatment interventions) similarities and differences between them. Key differences in theory and practice among various psychotherapy paradigms will be highlighted using case studies and videos shown in class. Students will also begin to critically evaluate and reflect on their own values, biases, and personal preferences in relation to these various theoretical approaches through written work, class discussions based on journal articles, and class activities.

Program Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate in-depth knowledge in theoretical approaches to counselling and psychotherapy.
2. Critically evaluate, synthesize, and resolve conflicting results in theoretical approaches to counselling and psychotherapy.
3. Articulate trends in theoretical approaches to counselling and psychotherapy.
4. Locate research articles and show critical thinking about research findings in theoretical approaches to counselling and psychotherapy.
5. Express knowledge of theoretical approaches to counselling and psychotherapy in written form.
7. Demonstrate an ability to work with others.

Specific Learning Objectives

1. Case studies & in-class exercises will be used to highlight similarities and differences in theory and practice among various psychotherapy paradigms
2. Students will have the opportunity to critically evaluate their own values, biases, and personal preferences in relation to various theoretical approaches

Description of Assignments

A. TEST 1
Date: Friday, October 27, 2023
Time to write: 3 hours
Worth: 35% of final grade
Test 1 will consist of 60-75 multiple-choice questions and some short and long answer questions based on case studies, which will be based on lecture material (lectures 1 to 6; including videos shown in class), textbook readings, and discussions in class. Testing will take place in-person, in class. Further information regarding Test 1 will be discussed in class once the course starts and updates will be provided under “Course Announcements” on the course website.

B. WRITTEN REFLECTIONS

Reflections based on these classes: October 6, November 3, and November 17, 2023
Time to Complete: approximately 3.5 days (Tuesday by 12pm) via eClass submission
Due Date for Reflections: October 10, November 7, and November 21, 2023
Worth: 15% (5% each)
You will be graded on all 3 written reflections (worth 5% each), which will account for 15% of your final grade. Written reflections for the above-mentioned dates will be based on lecture material presented on those days. The purpose of these reflections is to provide students with the opportunity to critically reflect and apply their knowledge in written form. Reflections will be no more than 2 typed, doubled spaced, (12 font) pages, and depending on the question posed can be answered using a combination of full sentences and point form notes. Students will be marked based on ability to correctly apply theoretical concepts and effectively convey their knowledge and understanding in written form. Please note: There are no make-ups for missed written reflections and you will receive a zero. If you miss submitting a written reflection for a valid reason then arrangements can be made for the missed work, however some type of documentation will be required. Please contact the instructor immediately following missing the submission of a written reflection. More details regarding written reflections will be provided during the first class and will be found in Lecture 1 slides, posted on eClass.
C. PARTICIPATION

Length: throughout the whole course
Worth: 10% of final grade

The expectation for this course is that you will attend all lectures and engage with the course material. Student participation will be examined in a number of ways during the course. For example, class discussion will be encouraged – sharing your opinions and reflections on course material, journal articles, and some class exercises will really help you to learn course material at a deeper level and hopefully will lead to lively discussions. Additionally, particular attention will be paid to attending and engaging with student presentations. In order to participate, make sure to read journal articles before the lecture and join in the class discussion.

D. IN-CLASS “POP-UP” EXERCISES

Due: throughout the course
Worth: 5% of final grade

To help deepen your theoretical knowledge, experiential exercises will be engaged in during class (or you will be given a brief exercise to do in between classes) to help with your understanding and experience of how psychotherapy theory is translated into and applied to psychotherapy practice. You will be graded on 2 (there may be 3 or 4 with time permitting) pop-up activities (2.5% per activity X 2 marked pop-up activities =5%) For example, you may be asked to complete an experiential exercise in between classes (e.g., complete a “thought record”; self-monitor a particular behaviour) and submit it the following class. Please note: There are no make-ups for missed pop-up activities and you will receive a zero.

E. TEST 2

Date: during exam schedule
Worth: 35% of final grade

The final test will involve applying concepts/knowledge that you have learned following Test 1. Test 2 will consist of some multiple-choice questions (45 to 60 MC questions), which will be based solely on textbook and class material that occurs after Test 1. Additionally, short answer and longer answer questions based on scenarios or case studies will also be present on Test 2.

Class Format and Attendance Policy

Classes will involve lecture with class discussion. Students are expected to attend all seminar classes. Attendance will make up a portion of your participation grade. There is no “make-up” for a missed class. If a student must miss a class, it is expected that the student will read the chapter(s)/article(s) for that week to facilitate learning and prepare for tests.

Grading as per Senate Policy

The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 89, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)
For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar – Grading Scheme for 2023-24

Missed Tests/Midterm Exams/Late Assignment
For any missed quiz or late assignment, students MUST complete the following online form which will be received and reviewed in the Psychology undergraduate office. At this time, due to COVID-19 an Attending Physician’s Statement (APS) is not required, however, a reason for missing an evaluated component in the course must be provided.

HH PSYC: Missed Tests/Exams Form. Failure to complete the form within 48 hours of the original deadline will result in a grade of zero for the missed quiz or late assignment.

You are strongly advised to pay close attention to the "Last date to enrol without permission of course instructor" deadlines. These deadlines represent the last date students have unrestricted access to the registration and enrolment system.

After that date, you must contact the professor/department offering the course to arrange permission.

You can drop courses using the registration and enrolment system up until the last date to drop a course without receiving a grade (drop deadline).
You may withdraw from a course using the registration and enrolment system after the drop deadline until the last day of class for the term associated with the course. When you withdraw from a course, the course remains on your transcript without a grade and is notated as 'W'. The withdrawal will not affect your grade point average or count towards the credits required for your degree.
