Course Description

The goal of this course is to get you to think about the deep and meaningful ways in which culture shapes who we are, how we think, and what we do. We will do this by addressing theory, research, and methods pertaining to culture and psychology. The potential role of culture is examined across a range of psychological areas including perception, cognition, emotion, developmental processes, as well as social and abnormal behaviour.

In addition to content, weekly lectures may include a research demonstration, some video clips, and class discussion. Each lecture is related in part to an assigned chapter from the textbook as well as an additional journal article. Lectures are designed to stimulate your interest in cultural psychology and to highlight and clarify some of the content that is related to the weekly topic. Not all of the information presented in the text will be covered in class. Moreover, some lecture information will not be found in the textbook. You are responsible for covering the text and the additional readings in their entirety. It would be a good idea to borrow notes from a classmate if you must miss a class, as all information presented in class (e.g., videos, research demonstrations) may lead to questions appearing on exams.

Program Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate in-depth knowledge in cultural psychology.
2. Articulate trends in cultural psychology.
3. Express knowledge of cultural psychology in written form.
4. Describe and explain limits to generalizability of research findings on cultural psychology.
5. Demonstrate ability to relate information in cultural psychology to own and others' life experiences.

Specific Learning Objectives

Students who complete this course should achieve the above learning outcomes in the following ways. An in-depth knowledge of cultural psychology should be achieved given that the course examines theory, research, and methods across a range of psychological areas. Recent empirical research in cultural psychology (e.g., assigned readings) will ensure that current trends in the literature will be presented. The paper assignment will require students to develop their knowledge of cultural psychology by writing on a particular topic and will provide them with insight into the limits and generalizability of single studies. Multiple opportunities will be provided in class for students to relate information in cultural psychology to their own and others' life experiences.

Required Text & Journal Articles

Heine, S.J. (2016). Cultural Psychology (3rd Edition). New York, NY: Norton.

Journal articles – A journal article will be assigned each week except for the introductory lecture. These papers are available through the York library's e-resources or through Moodle.

Course Requirements and Assessment:

Assessment	Date of Evaluation (if known)	Weighting
Exam 1	February 7	35%
Exam 2	April exam period	35%
Paper	March 14	30%
Total		100%

Description of Assessments

Each exam will consist of multiple choice and short answer questions. Information on the paper will be provided in week 2.

Reviewing Exams

Students are encouraged to review their exams to improve their performance on future work. Requests to review an exam should be made within two weeks of the grade posting. Note that grade changes will be made only in exceptional circumstances. After the two-week period, there will be no opportunity for revisions to grades.

Grading as per Senate Policy

The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar - Grading Scheme for 2017-18)

Late Work/Missed Tests or Exams

Students with a documented reason for missing an exam, such as illness or compassionate grounds, need to have supporting documentation (e.g., Attending Physician Statement which can be found at: <http://myacademicrecord.students.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf>) and may request accommodation from the Course Instructor. Further extensions or accommodations will require a formal petition to the Faculty.

Students must contact their assigned TA within 48 hours from a missed exam or assignment date. The make-up exam date will be non-negotiable.

Important New Information Regarding Missed Tests

For any missed tests or late assignments, students MUST complete the following online form which will be received and reviewed in the Psychology undergraduate office.

HH PSYC: Missed Tests/Exams Form. Failure to complete the form within 48 hours of the original deadline will result in a grade of zero for the test/assignment.
