Dr. Hoffman will be a Faculty of Health nominee in the upcoming competition for a Tier I Canada Research Chair. As the Scientific Director of the CIHR Institute for Population and Public Health, Professor Hoffman has also relocated the office of the Institute to York University. This is the first time York has hosted a CIHR Institute.

Dean McDonald provided an update on the Strategic Mandate Agreement noting that the University and Faculty of Health will focus on growing the 1) graduate domestic population and 2) undergraduate and graduate international population.

He highlighted Faculty appointment approvals for July 1, 2018 and noted that that Schools/Department will undertake searches. Similarly, he stated that the search for an Associate Dean, Students, is underway and that an announcement will be circulated in upcoming months. He reminded members that the Associate Dean, Students, among other responsibilities, will also focus on developing ways to improve recruitment, retention, student success and experience, as well as alumni relations.

Dean McDonald thanked the Office of Communications and Planning for spearheading regular media briefs. The media briefs are intended to enhance Health's profile, capture the excellent work of faculty members, and build stronger external relations. He encouraged Chairs/Director and faculty to connect with the Office to identify exciting new stories.

Dean McDonald recounted that Health's vision, mission, values and brand was developed in 2006 and encouraged faculty, staff and students to engage in refreshing Health's vision, mission, values and brand. He noted that he will work with the Executive and Planning Committee to develop an engagement and consultation strategy.

5. Council feedback to Provostial search committee

Dr. A. Pitt, Vice-Provost Academic, and Dean McDonald noted that a search for Vice-President Academic & Provost is underway and Odgers Berndtson has been contracted to support the search.

Vice-Provost Academic Pitt explained that the Presidential Advisory Committee will make recommendations to the President and the President will make a recommendation to the Board of Governors.

Dean McDonald noted that the Committee is working on a position profile and Council members were asked to comment on the opportunities and challenges for the next Provost as well as qualification to be sought in prospective candidates. Specifically, members were asked to comment on the following questions:

- What are the opportunities and challenges facing York University over the next five years?
- What are your aspirations for York University in that timeframe?

- What qualifications should be sought in candidates (in terms of leadership style, academic credentials, background, and experience)?
- Are there individuals you would like to recommend for the position?

Council members recommended that the position profile should require the candidate to be positioned to:

- Address research intensification, have leadership in the area of research and should support research
- Respect differentiation
- Challenge the status quo and lead the University into the future
- Invest in capital and improve physical plant.

In terms of qualification, members suggested:

- An indigenous thought leader
- A leader who understands and respects York's increasing focus on supporting student mental health

Dean McDonald noted that additional comments and suggestions can be forwarded to Odgers Berndtson.
