

MARXISM AND THE PHILOSOPHY OF INTERNAL RELATIONS SYMPOSIUM PANELS

Thursday May 10th, York University Founder's College, Senior Common room 305.

9:45-10:00 Introduction: Bertell Ollman, New York University

10:00-11:50 Panel 1: Dialectical Humanism, Alienation, and Subjectivity

Chair: TBA

Capital as the "scientific" revelation of "reason" as "the rose in the cross of the present"

Edward Winslow, York University.

Internal Relations and Historical Materialism

Kevin Brien, Washington College

Processes of alienation and the structure of bourgeois society

Mehmet Tabak, New York University

Discussant: Patrick Murray, Creighton University

12:00-1:50 Panel 2: Internal Relations and the Critique of Capital/Capital.

Chair TBA

Internal relations and the revolutionary consciousness

Anne F. Pomeroy, Richard Stockton College

Marx's scientific and political criticism: the internal relation

Paul Paolucci, Eastern Kentucky University

An ontological critique of the ahistorical character of mainstream/neoclassical economics: Marx's organically based atomism

Dennis Badeen, recent Ph.D. in Social and Political Thought, York University

Discussant:

1:50-3:00 lunch

3:00-4:50 Panel 3: Methodologies of Internal Relations

Chair: Dennis Badeen

Marx's dialectical method: an overview from the philosophy of internal relations to the unity of theory and practice

Bertell Ollman, New York University

Marx's dialectic in the light of Hegel's philosophy

Sean Sayers, University of Kent

Unity and diversity in the dialectic of capital and labour

David McNally, York University

Discussant: Raju Das

5:00-6:50 Panel 4: Putting Dialectical Marxism to Work

Chair: TBA

The historical archeology of capitalist dispossession

LouAnn Wurst, Western Michigan University.

Women and/as commodities

Nancy Hartsock, Washington University

Alienation and the dialectic of ecology

Brett Clark, North Carolina State University

Discussant: Robert Albritton, York University.

For maps see

http://www.yorku.ca/web/futurestudents/map/keele_map.html