

New Beat

February 2019 Edition

New College

The York Panther

York news, culture, music and everything in between; The York Panther covers it all. New College's very own, Peter Ubreye started the podcast in early October and has since released 6 weekly podcasts, each with a unique theme and a diverse set of co hosts.

Inspired by online podcasts like "The extra gravy show" and 4 Yall Entertainments' "Group Chat" he adds that, these podcasts are a really great way to pass time during study sessions, on the go, or in the background to multitask. "It's not something you have to watch, and I wanted to create something like that for York."

Peter hopes to be entertaining, and informative for anyone on campus. "I don't think we really get news on campus from a direct source, so I want to talk about random topics whether it's campus life, or the GO buses. I want students to have something they can listen to and have a discussion with." At the same time, Peter keeps the podcasts lighthearted and fun, by cohosting with a diverse group of students across York campus and choosing topics one could have with their friends.

Listen to the voices of first years on their first weeks at university, Frosh Week from the O Chair perspective, finding culture at York U and so much more. To support our fellow eagle, find "The York Panther" on SoundCloud and give the podcast a listen. (See Link Below)

Alexa Salagubang

3rd Year Honours Bachelor of Design

Vice President Promotions New College Council

Podcast Link: www.soundcloud.com/user-906443049

Above: Latest episodes of The York Panther

York Adventist Christian Fellowship

ADVENTIST CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

When you think of religion, you probably think of tradition with no relevance to current events. Especially with a long history of ups and downs, religion is not considered an important aspect these days.

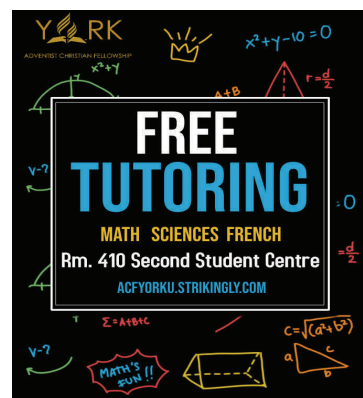

You are not entirely wrong; religion has failed to keep up and resonate with the growing needs of society, whether it be physical health, mental health, stress management and more. However, what if we told you that it was actually part of our faith to rest and mitigate stress?

Adventist Christian Fellowship has had an established presence on campus since the early 2000's. We are a group of loving, caring and passionate Adventist Christians who strive to contribute to the York University community.

As Adventist Christians, we believe that taking care of yourself is the first step in your faith. We keep the Sabbath day holy. We rest and take a break from work, school, studying and limit technology use. The whole day is focused on reconnecting with one another and giving back to the community through communal activities.

We believe self-care is a moral duty.

To reflect this, we offer free tutoring in difficult subjects, such as physics, math and French through quality group and one-on-one tutoring by York TA's and students.

We also emphasize fellowship. Our meetings take place every other Friday evening to discuss pressing social issues and how we can help or fill in the gap according to our beliefs.

We're a bundle of support!

We look forward to welcoming and getting to know you.

To start off the year with a bang, join us for our Church on Campus service on February 2nd from 9:30am to 3pm.

Fellowship with us as we explore the power of love!

We would love to hear from you!

Instagram: @acfyork

Facebook: www.facebook.com/ACF.YORK/

Email: adventist york@gmail.com

Writer: Isabela Bibulovic, President ACF York

QR Code to register for Church on Campus
Service!

Entertainment Management Conference Presented by Evenko

Entertainment Management Conference, presented by Evenko, is back for its 7th year! This unique 2-day conference (February 8th-9th, 2019) explores the conjunction of business and creativity in the Entertainment Industry (music, film, nightlife, arts, media, & more). Our 2-day event includes panels, keynote presentations, workshops, and a networking cocktail. EMC is not just a conference, but an immersive experience that will elevate your senses and give you a great opportunity to expose yourself to the entertainment industry.

The panels will discuss the following:

- Music
- Future of Entertainment
- Film
- Reality TV
- Live Entertainment
- Content Creation
- Creative Entrepreneurship

This year, we've incorporated a VIP dinner which includes a 3-course, sit down dinner at Le Blumenthal on Friday night with top executives from the industry rotating from table to table. This will give you the chance to network on a more exclusive level.

Moreover, for EMC's seventh year anniversary we decided to hold it at a brand new location. It will be held at Maison du Festival in Quartier des Spectacles. This exciting venue which includes L'Astral, a versatile live showroom; Blumenthal, a bistro-terrace; and a 2nd floor exhibition hall and lounge, will ensure that we bring you more in-depth panel discussions and keynote presentations, more hands-on and interactive workshops, and more streamlined networking activities.

This year's networking cocktail will give you the opportunity to network your way to your future job! Evenko being one of the present employers, hired not one, but two interns from EMC 2018! This year is YOUR chance to earn a paid summer internship with Evenko. You will work in Evenko's Quartier des Spectacles office alongside music industry professionals on festivals such as Osheaga, îleSoniq, Heavy Montréal, '77 Montréal, and Festival YUL EAT! This year's intern will once again be selected exclusively among EMC attendees.

Come join us on February 8th-9th, 2019 and stay tuned for speaker and workshops announcements!

Buy your tickets here: www.emcmontreal.com

Sarah Habtestion (sarah@emcmtl.com)

Director of Promotions

Want to Write for New Beat?

We are looking for talented writers to contribute to our next edition of "New Beat". Submit events, stories, opinions or anything that you feel is interesting.

Everyone is welcome and we are open to anything. Everything you submit helps benefit the New College community!

Email your submissions to: ncnews@yorku.ca