

GRADUATE RESEARCH ASSISTANT

in Black Disability

DEADLINE TO APPLY: FEBRUARY, 3, 2022

Description of the offer is posted below

Principal Investigator Agnès Berthelot-Raffard (Assistant Professor in Critical Disability Studies – School of Health Policy and Management) is seeking a graduate research assistant.

PRIMARY TASKS INCLUDE:

- Conducting a literature review on Black university students with disabilities to better identify how racism and ableism are articulated and the challenges posed on their mental health.
- Preparing for data collection via individual interviews.
- Writing the application for ethical certification.
- Participating in team meetings.

ESSENTIAL SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE :

- Master or Ph.D. student in Disability Studies/Health/ Social sciences and humanities
- Previous relevant experience in research.
- Research ethics training (EPCT2) or in the process of being trained.
- Knowledge of Disability Justice and Intersectionality frameworks.
- Respect for confidentiality, intellectual property, and ethical standards.
- Capacity to meet tight deadlines.
- Excellent communication and writing skills in English.

CONDITIONS:

- First appointment: February to April 2022
- Approximately: 100 hours (10 per week)
- Expected entry: February 7, 2022.

HOW TO APPLY:

Interested applicants should submit their cover letter, CV, transcripts, and the names of 2 appropriate referees in one PDF file by email: aberthel@yorku.ca Please put “Black Disability position” in the subject line.

Deadline for submitting applications: February 1, 2022.