- Mobile and Portal Project will build a virtual service point for students to interact with York from their smartphones.

Benefits of SSRP

Enhanced Student Experience

Improved access to services and ways to connect on campus with streamlined processes for the application, enrolment, and degree process.

Enhanced Faculty Experience

Improved ability to plan and administer courses and curricula through innovative delivery models and better access to data to support quality academic programs.

Enhanced Staff Experience

Increase intentional work with students and faculty by incorporating tools to tailor communications and automate routine processes.

Evolved Technology Landscape

Robust, secure, and well-integrated technology solutions that improve services for students, faculty and staff.

Increase Value of Service Offerings

Provide enhanced value to students, faculty, and staff by delivering simple, efficient, effective, and forward-looking services.

Ready for the Future

Help ensure York is effectively prepared for a modern environment in which learning and working will be combined in new ways both virtually and on campus.

Strengthening Our Impact on the SDGs

Highlights: Advancing Our Leadership in Sustainability

- New Sustainability Framework implemented with Steering Committee and expanded Office
- Consultation underway for next version of Sustainability Strategy 2023-2028
- Invested $1M to support Sustainable Innovation. Welcomed Mike Layton as the Chief Sustainability Officer

Spotlight: Sustainable Innovation Fund

- A newly funded project called "Determining the merits of large battery electricity storage at York University" will assess the desirability (environmental impact reduction), feasibility (fit with existing campus infrastructure and staffing) and viability (whether the system will reduce overall costs) of a large battery storage system at York University.
- The project is led by Tim Hampton and Mark Winfield (EUC), Hany Farag (Lassonde) and Steve Prince (Facilities).

Spotlight: Campus as a Living Lab

- Energy Management Information Systems (EMIS) is a state-of-the-art system that will enable cloud-based software with AI capabilities to analyze and optimize existing building energy in real time with the goal of controlling campus comfort and reducing unnecessary use of electricity and gas. This initiative contributes to the learning experiences of our students and researchers who benefit from real-time knowledge and data in their own work.
