

Dialogues: AI in the Classroom

How can our shared experiences better inform approaches to AI in the classroom?

This event brings York faculty and students together in informal, collegial dialogue to discuss how AI is being incorporated into post-secondary education. Conversation will address student and faculty experiences of AI in teaching and learning at York. We will begin with time for the two groups to discuss key issues separately, followed by facilitated time for sharing of insights, experiences, and priorities between faculty and students.

Co-hosted by York's Teaching Commons and Connected Minds.

January 20th, 2026, 11:00-1:00 ET

In-Person @ Keele Campus

Student registration

- Location details will be shared with registrants by email.
- Questions about this event?

Contact Robin Sutherland-Harris (robinsh@yorku.ca)

Faculty registration

